MY CHINESE NEVER SAVE LIFE.

They regard it as interfering with the Intention of the Creator.

Much has been written of the peculiarities and eccentricities of the Chinese, but it is not generally known that the people of the Celestial empire will not rescue one another from accidental death.

At 12 o'clock in San Francisco several years ago six Chinese were imprisoned in a room by three half-inch iron bars, which could easily have been broken away. There were two or three ladders in the neighborhood which could have been placed at the windows and the unfortunate easily rescued from a horrible death. There were hundreds of their countrymen looking on at their frantic efforts to escape. Yet they offered no assistance and gave no evidence of sorrow.

A man who has saved many lives, in penking with a Chinese once said they are very heartless and cited this San Francisco case as an example, whereupon the Celestial exclaimed:

"I tell you. You sabee Josah: Gol Almighty, alle samee. Chinaman call him Jos; Melican call him Gol. Call him anything. Alle samee. Now you say Gol Almighty make ebbleting?"

"Yes, ebbleting."

"Make alle men?"

"Yes."

"Know ebbleting?"

"Yes."

"Now, do you think you know more than Gol Almighty?"

"No, I do not."

"He makes alle men. He see one man. He think him no good. He say, 'You no use; go die.' You think you know bette Gol Almighty. You go swim; you no let man die. Gol Almighty he say: 'He velly smart. He catchee man I tell go die. Velly well, that man begin new. He call that man's life all him sins, all him troubles, all him bad luck. You hab heap good things?'"

"No."

"No hab much houses, much money, much land?"

"No; not much."

"All right, you nebbe hab much luck. How many you save?"

"About fifty."

"Oh, you nebbe get out. You call all fifty life. Ebbleting you do, no finish, work allee time heap trouble. You nebbe get old; you live long time. Sabee fifty life. You live hundred years—had bad luck allee time. Gol Almighty he sabee best."—Fire and Water.

A Bright Four-year-old.

The clergyman was a guest at dinner one day. Cream was offered him with his dessert, but he declined, gallantly saying "that would be painting the lily." A few days later Hattie's aunt, who had artistic tastes, sent the child to pick for her a brilliant lily which she wished to copy. The little four-year-old started on the errand, but as she reached the foot of the piazza steps she turned, looked up at her aunt and said, "Would you paint the lily?"—New York Tribune.

THE TOOLS OF MONEY KINGS.

General Weaver and General Field, the People's candidates for President and Vice President, have published a joint letter in which they expose the hypocrisy of those who are masquerading as friends of the people and in favor of free coinage while supporting for President one or the other of the Wall street candidates, neither of whom are favorable to silver. They say the leaders of the heretofore dominant parties are everywhere controlled by the monopolists and money centers, and manifest utter disregard for the wants and wishes of plain people. Notwithstanding the bitterness existing between Republicans and Democrats, they vie with each other in their subservience to capitalism and corporate greed. They are incapable of dealing sincerely with the vast problems entailed by the growth of the past quarter of a century upon the great economic questions of the age.

The Republican and Democratic parties, General Weaver says, "are practically one in purpose, differing just enough to enable them to carry on a sham battle, while the work of robbery and spoliation proceeds unabated. In the meantime farmers and planters north and south and the wage earners everywhere are proscribed, maltreated, denied the right to organize in defense of themselves and families, brought into competition with convict labor and in many instances shot down by hired mercenaries, acting under the orders of arrogant corporations, which have unblushingly usurped the functions of government and presume to act in its stead."

THE STATE FAIR.

The officers and directors of the State Agricultural Society have devoted time and expended money to make the Eighth Annual Fair the most interesting ever held in Nevada. The President, of the society, Hon. Theodore Winters, has furnished the grand stand with eleven hundred opera chairs at his own expense. The Superintendent of the Pavilion, Hon. W. O. H. Martin is giving his entire attention to that department, and the exhibits are artistically arranged. All vie with each other in their efforts to make the fair a success and so far they have succeeded beyond their most sanguine expectations.

As the Society is a State institution and not conducted for the benefit of individuals or corporations, all should assist the officers in their laudable efforts to make the occasion pleasurable and profitable to exhibitors and visitors. Not only every business man but every citizen of Reno should resolve himself into a committee of one to do all in his power to make every department of the fair a success.

DOWN IN ALABAMA.

The People's party in Alabama has put candidates in the field for Congress in every district. The nominees are: First district, W. B. Mason; Second district, Frank Ballou; Third district, J. F. Tate; Fourth district, A. F. Longshore; Fifth district, W. F. Whately; Sixth district, J. M. Davis; Seventh district, A. H. Blackwell; Ninth district, J. H. Parsons. All of these have heretofore been Democrats except Parsons, who is a brother of the United States district attorney. The convention has a full Weaver electoral ticket. The two factions of the Democratic party are hopelessly split, both committees having adjourned without agreement.

The Evening Straddler, which advocates the election of some men because they are for Harrison and others because they are against Harrison, and injures them every time it says a word in their favor, tells its readers that "if the People's party is a figure in this campaign it is a factor of the Democratic party." The editorial expressions of the Straddler have as much influence with thinking people as the walls of an Indian medicine man has in exorcising evil spirits.

The cholera, as a matter of news, has fallen out of public interest in New York. No new cases have appeared in the city, but over 1,000 passengers are quarantined at Hoffman Island. At Salem, Massachusetts, a case of Asiatic cholera is reported in a Polish boarding house, but the report has not been confirmed.

The World's Fair has already cost nearly $9,000,000, and the Directors are about to issue bonds to the amount of $4,000,000 to finish the work of construction.

Cholera is said to have cost $1,000,000 in Hamburg, and the New York steamship companies are losing over $25,000 a day in New York Harbor alone.

An Auction.

E. L. Hubbard of Nye county, will auction off at the track to-day, about 1:30 o'clock, a number of thoroughbred horses and colts. Now is a chance for horsemen.

THE GRAND ARMY REUNION.

A Rate War Likely—A Destructive Blaze in New York.

A CITY ATTORNEY INDIOTED.

The Presidents of the Six Chinese Companies Believe the Restriction Law Unconstitutional.

The Six Companies Believe it Unconstitutional.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 20.—The call to-morrow will publish a letter from the Presidents of the Six Chinese Companies to Collector of Internal Revenue John O. Quinn, sent in response to an inquiry by the Collector, as to whether or not it was true that the Six Companies had advised Chinese laborers not to comply with the provisions contained in the Chinese registration law passed at the last session of Congress. The Presidents of the Six Companies say to the Collector that they have issued a circular advising the Chinese laborers that the law is unconstitutional and cannot be enforced and that they have suggested to the laborers that they do not need to comply with the law. The Presidents say their circular was based upon the advice of their attorneys and they declare that the registration law is unconstitutional and in violation of the treaty rights.

In support of their claim as to the unconstitutionality of the registration act they declare, among other things, that Chinese residents have the same rights and privileges as any Caucasian race. That no law can be passed applying to one class and not to another; that Congress has no right of inflicting a penalty of deportation. In regard to the registration not being contrary to the same rights and privileges as are enjoyed by the citizens of the most favored nation. It declares Congress has not abrogated or nullified the treaty with China and therefore the treaty as well as the constitution and laws must be regarded as the supreme law of the land.

The Grand Army Reunion.

WASHINGTON, September 20.—The feature in to-day's proceedings of the Grand Army reunion was the parade of the veterans. Early this morning the weather was mild and hazy, but later the sun came out, shedding its genial warmth. The sky soon clouded over again and a cold wind made it uncomfortable in exposed places. Half past nine was the hour set for starting the parade and long before that time crowds had lined up against wire cables stretched along the sides of Broad street and Pennsylvania Avenue from the capitol building. Various veteran posts formed at their headquarters and marched to the positions assigned them on the diagonal stretch on the side of Pennsylvania Avenue, beginning at the west front of the capitol.

Department after department, post after post, hearty men and men on crutches, bands, drum corps, bright, fresh cloths, staid and ragged battle flags, cheers, clapping hands, waving handkerchiefs, outflowing eyes would moist, twitching lips refused to be still and caused the growth of that spirit which would impel the meaneast mortal to defend the stars and stripes from assaults of any or all nations on the face of the earth. This was the greatest day in the history of the Grand Army of the Republic. At 6:05 the last veteran had passed by. There were more men in line than at any other Grand Army parade. An estimate close to 60,000 men would not be far from the mark.

A Rate War Likely.

CHICAGO, September 20.—The Southern Pacific Railroad Company has given notice of its withdrawal from the Western Traffic Association. It seems that the great Huntington corporation is getting ready to fight its northern competitors who defied it by breaking away from the Trans-continental Association. The Western Traffic Association is now practically dead and it is believed in railroad circles that its affairs will be wound up at the next meeting of the advisory board October 11th. The Trans-continental is also going to pieces rapidly, and the only association west of Chicago which is really of any value is the Western Freight Association. Without any explanation the Nickel Plate has put into effect a passenger rate of $12 50 from Chicago to New York, a cut of $7 50. The chairman of the Central Traffic Association is trying to find out what it means and to prevent demoralization, but a rate war seems likely.

Cholera.

NEW YORK, September 19.—The Board of Health posted the following bulletin at 4 o'clock this afternoon: "No cases of cholera in the city since the last bulletin. The suspected case of Uppe Joe Walish at 14 Mott street, died to-day, and his body was removed to the foot of east Sixteenth street for examination." Treasurer J. P. Morgan of the Chamber of Commerce Emergency Fund to-day received $4,100 additional, swelling the total to $195,221.

A Reply to McKinley.

MATMOON, (Ill.), September 20.—Hon. William M. Springer addressed a large audience here to-day. His speech was principally a reply to that delivered by McKinley at Elwood last week, and was devoted to the tin plate industry.

A City Attorney Indicted.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 20.—The grand jury this afternoon returned an indictment against City and County Attorney John H. Durst for recommending to Assessor Siebe a number of changes in the assessment roll affecting the Pacific Steam Whaling Co., Oregon Railway and Navigation Co. and others. Judge Trout ordered District Attorney Barnes to take the necessary statutory proceedings.

A Big Fire in New York.

ROCKAWAY BEACH, September 20.—At 4:45 a fire is spreading along the ocean front, sweeping everything. Over twenty hotels and other buildings have already been destroyed. One man, Robert Phillips, lost his life in the museum building. The flames have now reached the Casino and Iron Pier. The probable loss will be millions. More engines are on the way from Long Island City.

After Evans and Sontag.

VIRALIA (Cal.), September 20.—Frank Burke, a special officer, returned here to-day accompanied by officers Powell, Breckenridge, Taylor and three Yuma Indian trailers to hunt Evans and Sontag. They leave town at daybreak for Sampson's Flat. The two Indians are the same as were here before.

"Among the Pines" Last Night.

The Georgie Woodthorpe company gave its second performance at the Opera House last night, producing the comedy drama of "Among the Pines." The company improves upon acquaintance, and each and every member of this talented combination is an artist, and the company as a whole is a very strong one. Last night's performance enabled Miss Georgie Woodthorpe to display her versatility and she made the most of her opportunity. The character of Butterfly is a most difficult one, but Miss Woodthorpe was equal to the occasion. She is a pleasing singer and a superb dancer, and her songs and dances were alone worth the price of admission. She was full of life and acted with dash and vim. She was indeed a veritable butterfly. She commanded tears or laughter at will, and at times aroused the audience to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. The support was of the highest possible order of merit, and where such general excellence prevails individual mention is unnecessary.

To-night will be produced for the first time in Reno the beautiful dramatic comedy of the "Country Girl." Miss Woodthorpe will appear in her favorite character of Mercy, the Country Girl, supported by the entire company.

This excellent dramatic combination will give an entire change of bill nightly during fair week, and on Saturday afternoon by special request will repeat the greatest success of the day, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," and we trust that the ladies and children will not neglect to take advantage of their last opportunity to witness the greatest of all child actresses, Georgie Cooper, as the Little Lord.

Better Than a Savings Bank.

If you have faith in the future prosperity of the city of Reno, Nevada, invest in well located town lots and you will surely double your money in the next few years. If you cannot buy a lot yourself you can take stock in the Reno Real Estate and Investment Co. and participate in the investments that this corporation will make. The company proposes to purchase centrally located property and erect suitable buildings thereon, obtaining immediate revenue from rents and receiving all benefits from increase in values.

SHE RIDES LIKE MEN.

A Young Western Woman Jollos Man Fashion in the Streets of Boston. The lady who may be seen riding astride a horse in Washington street has such a penchant for horsemanship that nothing short of an average of twenty miles a day will satisfy her. She comes from the west, and, owning four western horses who are not accustomed to the style of horsemanship most eastern ladies adopt, she has to use the style of western ladies or have her horses eat their heads off in their stalls. Her name is Miss Nettie Littell, and just now she is living in Roxbury. This is not the first time she has visited Boston, for she has ridden all over the eastern as well as the western states. She is likely to become quite a familiar sight on the country roads, because she is passionately fond of horsemanship. She is an apostle of the divided skirt on horseback, and nothing could induce her to ever ride any other way. She has seen too many accidents caused by the "mock modest" riding habit, as she calls it, to ever wear one. She says riding on a side saddle gives a horse the saddle gait and then a "setfast," something which affects the horse's back like frightful corns or bunions on a man's feet. Women get curvature of the spine by it, too, and a ten mile ride will use them up so that they cannot ride again for a week.

Miss Littell, on the contrary, rides from 10 to 100 miles every day of her life, and is so confident of her ability as a rider that she is willing to challenge any man but one in the country, or any two women, to ride horseback across the continent, 3,580 miles, for any reasonable purse. One of the women can ride half way and the other the rest. Miss Littell can saddle and ride all but the most vicious horses. She rode in Manchester, N. H., in November, 1890, the vicious running horse Billy H., which had just thrown his jockey owner, Billy Harrington, three times, the latter thereby losing the race. In this same running race she won first prize in one race for women, in another such race being passed only because the horse in front of her threw his rider, who had a side saddle, dragging the woman for half a mile on her back and nearly killing her.

Concerning the relative modesty of the two dresses Miss Littell says: "No lady can go riding on a side saddle without showing every line of her figure, whether it is good or bad, while my heavily kilted divided skirts hide every part of mine. All the ladies in Colorado ride like this. You could not tell if you saw me walking in my riding dress on the street that I had not an ordinary skirt on, so heavy is it. It is a matter of health too. I have scores of letters from doctors commending my good sense and judgment."

"About my horses. I have four now, a mustang which I bought because he was being ill used, but do not ride, and three others which I do ride—Creole Kitty, Buckskin and Black Jim. I ride Buckskin mostly. He is very ugly. I defy any man to go into the stall with him and come out unharmed. Buckskin kicks at every one but me when in his stall. I cannot ride Black Jim around here, because I often stop and children touch my horse. Black Jim kicks at any one who touches him. I will give Black Jim to any one who is not a western person who can take and saddle and ride him. I can do it. Creole Kitty is very kind and gentle."

"I use a western saddle, and ride in the sensible western style, not jumping up and down like a monkey with the horse because it's English." I can lay a silver dollar on a saddle, sit on it and start at a walk, go into a trot and then into a lope, or gallop, as you call it, and not drop the dollar. That shows how closely I sit on my horse. It is by far the easiest way to ride."

"My dress is as follows: A velvet cap, broad brim felt hat, with black ostrich feather, a black jacket, cutaway, with braid a la militaire, a waist of white flannel and tie to match, a heavy double kilted, bifurcated skirt, walking length, knickerbockers and high top boots. Nothing is ever revealed by this costume, no matter how fast I ride or how strong the wind is blowing."—Boston News.

"To catch a boa constrictor is a difficult and dangerous task," says a man who makes it his business to capture wild animals and reptiles for menagerie purposes. "It is accomplished by a labyrinthian tangle, embracing sixty square feet of ground. The labyrinth is made by joining together, end on end, pieces of matting. This web is eight feet high usually, and placed so that the opposing walls will be two feet apart. All sorts of crisscross and diverging combinations are made with the matting—it is supported here and there by stakes—making when it is set, a geometrical puzzle that might well challenge the ingenuity of man."

"The trap is baited with a live pig, which is placed in a pen in the corner of the labyrinth. By and by along comes the boa constrictor. It is easy enough to get in. He scents the prey; he is very hungry; the pig is devoured, and now the boa comes to grief. For hours he tries to release himself, but finally he gives up and stretches himself out in a coil, when is our time. We open the trap and catch him."—Golden

WHAT IS SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors," which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous sore throat from the time she was months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLISLE, Nauright, N. J.

The general expression of opinion of visitors at the Fair is that a great mistake was made in not holding the State Encampment of the Militia at the Fair grounds. The whole State paid the expense, and as persons from all parts of the State are attending the Fair, they claim that they should have the privilege of seeing the soldiers.

William Dunphy, the big cattle king, died at his residence in San Francisco last Saturday. He had been ill for several months and succumbed to an attack of pneumonia, which followed pleurisy. He served in the Texas Rangers in the Mexican War. He arrived in San Francisco in 1849 and in early days went into the cattle business with Thomas Hildreth. He owned large stock ranches in California and in Eureka and Elko counties, Nevada. He leaves a widow and three children.

Hoskins' Orchestra will give a series of dances at Armory Hall during Fair week, commencing this (Tuesday) evening. First class music will be in attendance, and good times are assured.

THE STATE FAIR.

Doings of the Second Day—A Fine Spread Program.

The Grounds and the Pavilion—Good Attendance at the Fair—To-day's Program and "Snap Shots."

Yesterday morning opened clear, cool, and beautiful. A typical Autumn morning in Nevada has no equal in the world unless it be in Colorado. The clear and cool atmosphere, sky whose azure tints rival those of Italy, a smiling valley nestled at the foot of majestic mountains, a river tumbling in ecstasy, winding its way eastward through a lovely valley and pretty city, a landscape whose greenish tints are just fringed with an Autumnal golden, a happy and a prosperous people—and you have a picture of Reno and its environment.

Our little city was early astir with activity and not only ready for the coming day but equal to it. The rapid transit buses lined Commercial Row and patriotically bid for the early traffic. Horsemen, sports, business men citizens and strangers each pursued the even tenor of his way. So far order and decorum have characterized the movements of social life. Nothing like rowdiness or disgraceful occurrences have marred the pleasure of the week. The crowd of strangers are increasing rapidly and the streets, except during the middle of the day, when everyone is at the grounds, present an animated appearance.

The second day, in a small way, begins to show the magnitude of the Fair. To-day every department will be in full blast. Every inch of space in the pavilion has been taken. A noteworthy feature of the Fair, and one commendatory of the industry, enterprise and resources of Nevada, is the fact that all the exhibits represent purely Nevada industries. A prominent feature of the Fair is the turf. It has an interest for a varied class and has been in the past an eminent feature, but of late years more attention is being paid to those departments which truly represent us in our social and economic condition. As to the turf we have at its head a man whose integrity and honesty and National reputation as a horseman insures fair dealing. The name of Theodore Winters is synonymous with honor. When he directs the races the best horse always wins. His magnificent stable whose reputation for speed is only equalled by the honor with which he conducts them adds greatly to the success of this department.

The State Fair Association has every reason to feel encouraged at the promised success of the Fair and by the end of the week we will have in progress the most successful annual State Fair of recent years.

AT THE GROUNDS. Everything is in apple-pie order. The entries closed yesterday. They are up to the usual standard. Tomorrow will be the prize stock, and premium parade. A large crowd is anticipated. The most prominent stock exhibitors are: Theo. Winters with his famous flyers and breeding stallions. Among his entries are El Rio Rey, Norfolk, Hooker and Jumbo. Joe Marzan of Lovelock with his band of Darhams is on hand and they are a center of attraction. S. J. Bryant of Reno has 29 head of standard bred Darhams entered. A 3-year-old bull, weighing 2,000 pounds is pronounced one of the handiest animals at the Fair. There are a large number of others entered. A description of which will be given later on.

AT THE STOCK PARADE. At 10 o'clock the first stock parade of the week took place. All the stock was on the track though the greater portion has not yet been entered. A large number of people witnessed the parade and pronounced it excellent. The appearance of El Rio Rey brought forth cheers. The parade was an informal affair. It was headed by Joe Hooker who is said to be the father of more winners than any stallion in America. He was followed by El Rio Rey, the King of the turf. Thursday will be the "dress parade" of the week with a fine exhibition.

AT THE TRACK. Yesterday witnessed both a larger attendance and an increased interest. The vicinity of the grand stand is the center of great activity. The saloon in the basement is constantly filled with an eager, excited throng of men, who discuss the coming races, exchange "tips" and then sit idly and patiently lean over the bar while the sparkling liquid refreshments disappear with surprising rapidity and the wonder grows how some carry the load they acquire by eventide. The gentlemen who run the wheel of fortune crate, gestulate and urge the claims of Dame Fortune. A crowd keeps in the near vicinity mentally counting the winnings but they only bet, while others contemplate the revolution of the kaleidoscopic wheel and watch their dollars slip over the green cloth as the proprietor hypnotizes the wheel just at the wrong time. A crowd of pool sellers and bookmakers keeps the interest from lagging, and as the bell rings up the different races a large crowd surges about the pool boxes and back their judgments with their hard earned cash. The grand stand is always filled with ladies and children who enjoy the sport hugely. The ladies are as deeply in the races as the men and discuss the events with all the intelligence of professional turfites. The band discourses music between the events and do it in a splendid manner. It is richly appreciated. All in all the entire afternoon is one of continual excitement and pleasure.

YESTERDAY'S RACES. The speed program was a good one. A good deal of money changed hands during the afternoon. The first race of the afternoon was a RUNNING—1/4 MILE AND REPEAT: PURSE $200.

The following entered:—Charger by I. Allen, ridden by Sweeney; B. H. by A.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder ABSOLUTELY PURE

Y. Stephenson, ridden by Clancy; Nelson by O'Keefe, ridden by Bully; Jack the Ripper by Geo. Watson, ridden by C. Clancy; Varsity by M. T. Waiter, ridden by Spooner; Dew Drop by H. Willis, ridden by Wabber; The Jew by E. Williams, ridden by Bastillon; Red Rose by H. Bandy, ridden by Nichols; Ida Glenn by the San Francisco stables, ridden by Cooper; Joe Harding by W. A. Gibson, ridden by Cook. The pool selling opened very lively with Ida Glenn, a favorite at $9, $10 and $13. B. H. at $5 then down to $3. The Jew at $4 then down to $3 with the field at $10. The field sold liberally. The Book-makers had Ida Glenn a favorite at 7 to 5; B. H. and the Jew at 2 1/2 and then 4 to 1. A good round sum of money went into the box. There was some difficulty experienced in starting owing to the large number of starters. They got a fairly good start at last well bunched. In the first eight of a mile there was a good deal of shuffling in position, and then they drifted apart and came round the turn like a dwelling rainbow. The colors glistening in the sun light. Again they bunched with three nearly neck and neck. The Jew came in first, time 49. Ida Glenn second.

For the second heat the judgement of the better counted for little. The situation was a little mixed. The Jew while a favorite was a little shaky with Ida Glenn equally strong. The field sold for $6 and $7. There was considerable chopping. Two horses failed to start, the others flew to the front in a bunch with Dew Drop a close winner. Time, 49 1/2.

In the third heat only two horses started, namely, Dew Drop and The Jew. Dew Drop was the favorite at the pool box, Dew Drop sold $10 to the Jew at $4 and $3. They started without any difficulty and came flying down the track side by side with Dew Drop half a length winner.

The race was a peculiar one. The favorites and best horses were never in it. Ida Glenn who sold favorite in the first heat dropped out of sight in the second heat, at the very start, while she was still strongly backed in the pool boxes. Dew Drop was a shortender and sold 6 to 1 in the first heat, and 6 to 1 on the second heat. There was considerable money on the race.

THE RENO HANDICAP. The second event of the day was the Reno Handicap, 1 1/4 miles for $1,200 added. The entries were Captain Al by Owens Bros., Canny Scott by Wm. Senclair and Gold Bar, by E. Williams. This was an exciting and pretty race. Pools sold with Captain Alas favorite at $20. Canny Scott $8 and Gold Bar $7. Canny Scott responded to the occasion and won by half a length. Time, 1:57.

The third race was the 2:25 pacing race. Tom Pepper, Geo. Wappler, Ferret and Sample were entered.

The first heat was exciting. It was thought that Pepper had the heat as Wappler who was the favorite in the pools broke at about the half post and Pepper left him some 50 feet in the rear. He soon regained his pace and forged to the front coming under the wire two lengths ahead. Time 2:41 1/2.

The second heat was taken by Wappler with Sample a good second. Time, 2:40 1/2.

The third heat gave Wappler a walk over, with Sample second. Time, 2:48.

AT THE PAVILION. The work has progressed with surprising rapidity under the efficient management of the Reno ladies. Heretofore it has been at least Wednesday before the Pavilion was ready for visitors, but last night found everything in proper order. The upper floor presents a very handsome appearance. It is tastefully draped and festooned. Among the many noteworthy exhibits are those of Miss Torrison, Miss Gibbs, John Sunderland, Mr. Sessions, Nevada minerals by the Mining Department of the University, Mrs. E. M. Clark's fancy department and a number of groups of paintings. Due notice and a full description will be given later in the week. The lower floor is devoted to agricultural interests. The Experiment Station has a fine collection of cereals, vegetables and fruits; Theo. Winters, cheese and jellies and Mrs. Bailey, fruits. Besides there are a number of noteworthy exhibits of mechanical and agricultural implements. The Pavilion is in all readiness to-day, and for the rest of the week will be a main center of attraction. Music will be given in the Pavilion each evening, and the public will be well repaid by a visit thither. The Pavilion presents as handsome a picture as it has for years. As soon as all the entries are made a full list will be published.

The day was a very pleasant one, and last night the streets of Reno were equal to a Broadway. The usual crowd who prey on the gullibility of the susceptible

American held forth. Music, with its voluptuous swell, drew the crowd within the saloons, and Dame Fortune with fascinating smile coquetted with the American dollars, while the victim was left reeling to find out the difference in the morning.

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME. It will consist of the following bicycle races at 10 o'clock A. M.:

Still Growing.

A glance at the map of Powning's Addition shows that with but very few exceptions all of the most eligible lots have been sold. Along the entire river front, or Riverside Avenue, there are only three corners left, while on Second street there are but four that are not sold. People wonder how it happens, but Reno keeps on growing just the same, and those who are still hunting bargains should buy a lot in Powning's Addition while lots are yet reasonable.
